B. FACE-TO-FACE COURSE SECTIONS:

Face-to-face education

Is a mode of delivery in which instruction is delivered in a traditional classroom setting, with instructor and students located simultaneously in the same classroom facility.

1. Describe the methods of instruction:

1. Lecture and visual aids
2. Discussion and problem-solving activities in class
3. Films and other audio-visual materials
4. Collaborative projects
5. Homework and extended projects

6. Field trips and projects at various school and educational programs
7. Guest speakers

2. Describe the methods of evaluating of student performance.

1. Performance on objective and analytical essay exams
2. Performance on curriculum and program development for young children
3. Performance on field projects
4. Performance on writing assignments
5. Class attendance and participation

3. Describe how the confidentiality of the student's work and grades will be maintained.

Instructors shall make reasonable efforts to protect the confidentiality of students' grades and graded work consistent with practices described in the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).

C. CORRESPONDENCE EDUCATION COURSE SECTIONS (Correspondence, hybrid correspondence)

Correspondence education is a mode of delivery in which instructional materials are delivered by mail, courier or electronic transmission to students who are separated from the instructor by distance. Contact between instructor and students is asynchronous.

Hybrid correspondence education is the combination of correspondence and face-to-face interaction between instructor and student.

1. Describe the methods of instruction.

Written form or posted to Palo Verde College's Bridge website for review by students. Instructors may also conduct discussion sessions with students in writing or via the Internet.

2. Describe the methods of evaluating student performance.

1. Performance on written assignments that test the student's ability to analyze as well as to synthesize child development theory and data
2. Performance on writing assignments that test the ability of the student to assess and evaluate child development principles
3. Performance on the preparation and organization of ideas, theories and contexts of development that may include
 - a. Objective and essay examinations
 - b. Critiques of specific reading assignments
 - c. Oral analysis of textbook and supplemental reading assignments
4. Performance on field research projects

5. Performance on group projects
6. Class participation in written form

3. Describe how regular, effective contact between the instructor and a student is maintained.

Regular, effective contact includes, but is not limited to, exams; quizzes; essays; research papers; graded homework assignments; syllabus receipt; office hours; instant messaging; and synchronous online discussions, e-mails, letters, notes, phone calls, or postings on the Bridge between instructor and student.

4. Describe procedures that help verify the individual submitting class work is the same individual enrolled in the course section.

Consistent with policy elements listed in the ACCJC's "Policy on Distance Education and on Correspondence Education," the College verifies the identity of a student who participates in class or coursework by using, at the College's discretion, such methods as a secure log-in and password, proctored examinations, or other technologies or practices that are developed and effective in verifying each student's identification.

5. Describe procedures that evaluate the readiness of a student to succeed in a correspondence or hybrid correspondence course section.

The procedure might consist of a short assessment questionnaire prepared by the instructor and self-administered by the student. The questionnaire would evaluate areas such as working independently, adhering to timelines, and familiarity with working online and with computer technology. The student would use the resulting score to evaluate his or her readiness to take the course in a correspondence or hybrid correspondence instructional mode.

6. Describe how the confidentiality of the student's work and grades will be maintained.

Instructors will make reasonable efforts to protect the confidentiality of students' grades and graded work consistent with practices described in the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).

7. If the course has a lab component, describe how lab work is to be conducted and how student work is to be evaluated.

8. If the course requires specialized equipment, including computer and computer software or other equipment, identify the equipment, and describe how it is to be accessed by students.

The students may use a computer with internet and e-mail and be able to access the college "bridge" to access assignments and tests or manually write assignments and tests on paper and return them to the instructor through the mail.

Note: Students will be encouraged by instructors of this course to direct themselves to the College's Disabled Students' Programs and Services (DSP&S) department if they believe they have a learning disability.
